SCUTUM

A New Scutum UK Fire and Security Company

From 1st January 2021, Scutum combined the strengths of Fire Protection Group (FPG) Ltd, FPG Security Solutions Ltd and Orion Security Services Ltd to form the new organisation Scutum UK Ltd, that continues to provide Fire and Security services across the length and breadth of the UK.

A Unified Fire & Security Solution

Combining the strengths of FPG and Orion provides a unified Fire Protection and Security Solutions offering. Building on the proud heritage, tradition, customer profile, and accreditations that each company has built up over the past 30 years and bringing together the extensive in-house expertise of each company, Scutum UK continues to deliver an exceptional level of service throughout our UK wide network.

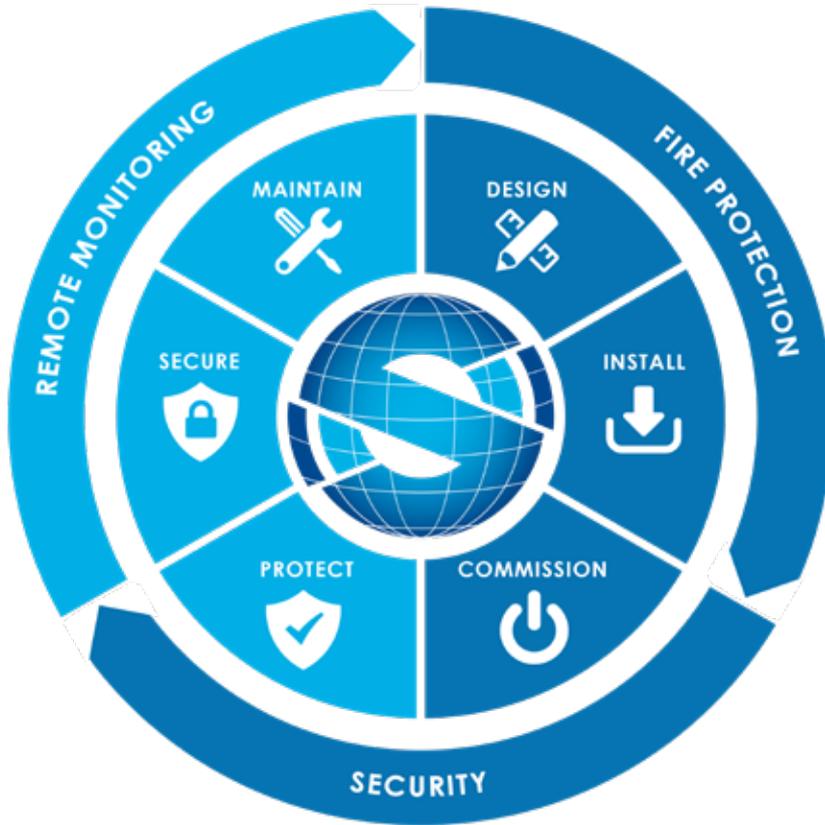

Companies within the Scutum UK group engage in a programme of rigorous 3rd party accreditations: For more information on our accreditations please visit www.scutum.uk.

Single-Source Fire and Security Solutions

We design, supply, install, commission, test and maintain integrated fire protection and security solutions as well as, through the larger European Scutum group, provide digital services and cyber security services, fully managing all fire and security system projects.

Design

Our expert teams design systems with tomorrow's evolving threats in mind. Designs are compliant to relevant standards and take place in-house using the latest software.

Install

Installation is carefully managed by our highly skilled installation teams, complying fully with all relevant British and European standards.

Commission

Our experienced commissioning team transition systems over to a fully active system in compliance with the relevant British or European Standards.

Protect

Our digital security solutions are powered by our unique Eridan™ predictive security platform, enabling analysis of vast amounts of data to reduce false alarms and prevent liabilities and hazards.

Secure

In a world where criminal activity and cyber threats become ever more sophisticated, Scutum ensures that your critical fire and security data are secured at all times.

Maintain

We protect existing systems, remotely via digital services or on-site with our technicians. We offer paths to upgrade, extend or modernise systems and infrastructure.

Why We Combined FPG, FPGSS & Orion.

Scutum identified that FPG, FPGSS and Orion all primarily served similar UK wide, large account customers, who are some of the UK's largest, blue-chip organisations. The merger brought together the significant expertise within each company, created a clear, unified service for all of our customers as well as offers benefits in streamlining our processes and advantages in economy of scale.

What Are the Effects?

The merge did not affect any existing customer relationships or current contracts. Our company mission and commitment to excellent customer service remains the same and we continue to provide integrated fire and security solutions across the UK.

Maintaining Existing Relationships

Preserving our strong customer relationships is key and we will attempt to maintain existing representatives or account managers where possible. We remain committed to excellent customer service.

Certification & Accreditation

We continue our commitment to engage in rigorous third party accreditations and process improvement, meeting or exceeding all relevant UK and European safety, fire and security standards.

Monitoring and Alarm Receiving Centres

Other Scutum UK businesses such as the Yeoman, Scutum Digital and Securi-Guard monitoring centres are unaffected by this merge and Scutum UK remains tightly integrated with those services.

What Are the Benefits?

UK Wide Reach, Local Support

The merger brought our professional teams together across strategically positioned offices throughout the UK, offering the best possible local support to our customers.

Combined In-House Expertise

We combined the extensive expertise of our in-house system designers, engineers, customer service, compliance officers, account managers, sales and marketing teams.

Diverse Supply Chain

Opportunity to diversify our supply chain and relationships with leading fire and security manufacturers, ensuring we specify the best products to meet the needs of our customers.

Economy of Scale

Streamlining and unification of our internal processes and procedures, as well as economy of scale advantages in production and procurement.
